Why do you think that knowing this is important for history?

What are BC, BCE, AD and

Historians often talk about years as being BC or BCE and AD or CE. This is another way of dividing time. It makes it easier when talking about large areas of time.

BC and BCE

BC means Before Christ and refers to the time BEFORE Jesus was alive. Many historians now use BCE that means Before Common Era as not everyone believes in Jesus. The Common Era is the years 0–2016 so BEFORE common era is earlier than the year 0.

AD and CE

AD stands for Anno Domini and refers to the time after Christ. CE means common era which is any time from the year 0.

Bob was born in 2004	His Sister, Brenda was born in 2010.	He started secondary school in 2015.	He went on holiday to Florida in 2013
He broke his leg in 2011.	His Nan died on 2009.	He went to his first football match in 2010.	He won his first football championship in 2016.

Evidence

As Historians we have to look at evidence, from this we have to try to deduce, or work out, information. Look at the evidence below and answer the questions about this person:

Is the per-male or female?

son

What mode of transport do they use?

What is their diet like?

Do they have any pets?

What else can we assume?

Types of Evidence

Historians are like detectives because they use SOURCES and clues left by people of the past. Evidence can be discovered in one of 3 different ways.

Written

Physical

Spoken

Label the following images with which of these three categories it fits in:

--	--	--

--	--	--

Historians use different terms for different types of evidence.

These are w _____ evidence for things like _____, s _____ evidence for things such as _____ and p _____ evidence for _____.

Primary and Secondary Sources

In History we get our evidence from two different types of sources:

Primary sources were made or written at the time an event happened.

Secondary sources are made after the time or by someone who wasn't there.

Once we know the type of historical evidence we have, we need to decide if it was made at the time of the event and therefore is a _____ source; or if it has been made later by people who weren't at the event, making it a _____ source.

Examples of Primary Sources

- Diaries
- Newspapers
- Letters
- Photographs
- Buildings
- Museum displays
- Recordings

Historians use Primary sources to make Secondary sources!

Examples of Secondary Sources

- School text book
- TV programmes
- Films
- Plays
- Novels and stories
- History books
- The Internet

Primary and Secondary Sources

A diary written by Elizabeth I is _____ evidence. We know this because _____.

A film made by Elizabeth I is _____ evidence. We know this because _____.

Sort the evidence below into Primary and Secondary:

A Gun dated from 1879

A History textbook

Queen Elizabeth I

Anne Frank's Diary

WW2 computer Game

An American poster dated from the 1880's.

Fossilised bones of a saber-toothed cat

A ration book from WW2

A film about the Wild West

World War 2 veteran talking about his experiences in the war.

Categorising Historical Events

Historians study different types of events through time. Historians group these events into topics or themes. This makes it easier for people who are interested in history to identify historical changes and study the affect on people in the past and through time.

Match the category to it's definition.

Political

How people earn money and spend their money.

Economic

To do with developments in technology and medicine

Social

To do with war, power, government and rights.

Technology

People's everyday life at work and at home.

Why do you think they are split into categories?

Which do you think would be the most interesting category to study and why?

Categorising Historical Events

Sort these events into the four categories. Put them in CHRONOLOGICAL order in your answer box!

1918—Women are allowed to vote.	1946—Child benefit was introduced in the UK.
1947—National Health Service was set up.	1872—First FA Cup final.
